

PUBLIC OPINION RULES GERMANY

Count Von Bernstorff Informs Secretary Lansing That in Note to U. S. His Government Sought to Satisfy Public Opinion at Home and Still Remain Friendly With America—Thinks Diplomacy at an End—Says There Will Be No Repetition of Lusitania Incident.

By Associated Press.

Washington, July 16.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, told Secretary Lansing today he believed the German reply to the last American note on submarine warfare presented opportunity for settlement of the controversy by further diplomatic negotiations.

In the absence of President Wilson, Secretary Lansing was unable to inform the Ambassador what course the United States would pursue in its next note, but he heard with much interest Count Bernstorff's explanation of the purposes of the German government to satisfy public opinion at home on the maintenance of submarine warfare, and at the same time to maintain friendly relations with the United States.

The ambassador personally is convinced there will be no repetition of the Lusitania disaster, and that German submarines now are exercising great precaution to avoid incidents which might inflame public opinion in the United States.

With that idea in mind, he urged that the United States take advantage of the intimation in Berlin's reply that Germany would be willing to have the entire question of freedom of the seas mediated with Great Britain through the American government.

New York, July 16.—Such a course American officials have indicated, might be more welcome if accompanied by some assurance that, during the pendency of the negotiations, American vessels and lives would be safe from attack and danger.

Count Bernstorff declined to discuss today's conference, beyond saying it was a very satisfactory interview, and he felt encouraged to believe the danger of a rupture in relations had been reduced.

He based his optimism on the view that the German government did not want a break, and would do all in its power to prevent one. He is confident that the United States holds a similar view.

The ambassador is strongly of the opinion that diplomacy will be able to settle the issue.

The interview was entirely informal, but the ambassador sent a long report of his visit, by wireless, to Berlin.

Paris, July 16.—Fighting in the Argonne region in France has turned in favor of the French, according to the Paris War Office, which claims the recapture of Hill No. 285 from the army of the German crown prince.

The hill was taken early this week in the German movement on Verdun, which drove the French back three-fifths of a mile along a front of nearly two miles, the German reports declared, and resulted in the capture of more than 2,500 French soldiers and several guns.

BOATS RESCUE 100 FAMILIES AT KENTON

By Associated Press.

Columbus, July 16.—Six city blocks were flooded here today, when the Olentangy river broke through the old city levy on the North Side.

The flooded section is not a residence district and has been used as city play grounds. Hundreds of small garden plots kept by the children were ruined.

Advices from Kenton say the flood is near the 1913 stage and that 100 families have been rescued in boats since 3 o'clock this morning. It is feared that lives may have been lost at Foraker, near Kenton.

A Toledo & Ohio Central freight train struck a washout near Kenton and the fireman, Jack Williams, may die as a result of being penned under the firebox.

The Scioto river is rising in Columbus, but no danger is anticipated.

Lima, O., July 16.—The Ottawa river is racing through Lima today driving families to the higher portions of the city and tearing out bridges and viaducts.

Since midnight it has risen rapidly and at 7 a. m. was within 15 inches of the high water mark of 1913. Police and firemen were on duty all night doing rescue work. Crops near here have been ruined. Over 200 houses are under water.

One woman is dead as a result of an explosion due to the high water. The property loss in Lima is estimated at half a million dollars, and is twice that of the 1913 flood. The waters began to fall about 11 a. m.

Refugees are coming into the city from the nearby villages of Alger, McGuffey and Foraker, and report the oats crop gone and many buildings wrecked and live stock killed. The farmers will suffer heavy losses, many losing everything.

THAW WINS FREEDOM AFTER NINE YEARS

Justice Hendricks Upholds Decision of Jury Which Declared Thaw Sane—State Will Appeal and Noted Character Is at Liberty Under $35,000 Bail.

By Associated Press.

New York, July 16.—Supreme Court Justice Hendrick upheld today the decision of the jury which declared Harry K. Thaw sane. Thaw was then given his freedom on $35,000 bail.

In announcing his agreement with the verdict of the jury, Justice Hendrick said: "I adopt the jury's verdict."

The next matter before the Court was the motion made yesterday by Thaw's chief counsel, to declare vacated the commitment under which Thaw was sent to the Matteawan asylum in 1908, after he had been acquitted on the grounds of insanity of the murder of Stanford White, June 25, 1906. Counsel for the state, however, immediately began an argument on appeal.

A surety company was prepared to give bond and Thaw was taken from the court house to the judge's chambers, so that details might be arranged. The justice fixed the bail at $35,000 to insure Thaw's presence at future proceedings.

A crowd of several hundred lined the sidewalks and overflowed into the streets around the court house, cheered Thaw and applauded wildly when he appeared on the court house steps.

In announcing his decision, Justice Hendrick took occasion to comment unfavorably upon the action of alienists, who had assisted the state in preparing the case and then appeared as expert witnesses in court. "I have reached a decision in this case," the justice said, "and it is based on my own mind, fortified by the action of the jury."

Thaw, sitting comfortably in his chair, his counsel on each side, showed his pleasure, and anticipated the court's decision with a broad smile. One of the state's lawyers gave notice of appeal.

Thaw's counsel moved that he be given his liberty under bond. This motion was vigorously opposed by the state's attorney saying he considered Thaw insane and a danger to the community. Thaw's bond assured his obedience to any mandate of the court until final disposition of the appeal.

After all arrangements for the bond had been made, Thaw, in an auto with his secretary and a detective, started downtown, followed by six cars containing reporters and photographers. All the way down Broadway to the office of his attorneys, persons on the sidewalks cheered and applauded Thaw, who appeared to be much pleased with the demonstration.

After a short stay at his attorneys' offices, Thaw took a ferry to Jersey City, where he was formally released from the custody of the sheriff. Thaw said he would motor to Philadelphia and go by rail from there to Pittsburgh.

The defendant, it seems, loaned a motorcycle to a friend named Snyder. Snyder borrowed some attachments from Vannoy and put on the machine. Cory recovered his machine from Snyder's house, during the latter's absence, taking attachments and all. Cory held that they were his for the reason he owned the machine. Vannoy got his attachments.

CHILD MISSING; EAGLE BLAMED

Geneva, Switzerland, July 16.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—For all the progress made by man in his conquest of the air, especially since the beginning of the European war, the birds are still the masters of the uncharted heights. The Swiss and Austrian inhabitants on the frontier of the Voralberg have just had a striking example of this brought home to them.

A farm worker engaged in cutting hay on the slope of the Camp Alp, a mountain some 6000 feet high, near the Swiss-Austrian boundary line, brought his child to the field with him and placed the three and a half-year-old youngster under a bush while he set about his hay-making.

Some two hours later he returned to the place but could not find the child. He searched high and low, fearing he might have mistaken the bush in the shade of which he had left his offspring, but could find no trace of the infant. Beside himself with anxiety, he hurried to the nearest village and reported the circumstances to the police, who sent out a general alarm.

Several days later, some chamois hunters of the district, having learned of the loss of the child, reported that they had seen an eagle flying over them, carrying "something heavy." The conclusion was reached that the eagle's burden must have been the missing child.

Local Alpinists at once formed an expedition to search the mountain fastnesses for trace of the eagle's nest. But notwithstanding their earnest efforts nothing has been discovered to indicate where the giant bird has his aerial or whether or not the child is still alive.

CHAUTAUQUA OUTLOOK EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD

An increasing interest in the Washington C. H. Chautauqua has been manifested during the past week, following the visit of Mr. Warren C. Coleman, one of the advertising representatives of the Coit-Alber Chautauqua Company, to our city.

The advertising which had formerly been displayed about town was largely augmented by Mr. Coleman during his stay, and there is now no reason why the name Chautauqua and the date of the big educational event should not be firmly impressed on the minds of all our citizens.

Mr. Coleman informs us that the outlook for Chautauquas in the Coit-Alber circuit is exceptionally good this year, the great program provided, headed by Giuseppe Creatore's world renowned band, having enlisted the enthusiastic approval of all communities.

The Washington Chautauqua opens July 17th and continues for seven days, closing July 23rd. There will be a brand new program every afternoon and evening during the entire seven days. Creatore's band will be here on the fourth day of the Chautauqua, giving two concerts.

It would be a good idea to procure tickets from some member of the local committee today, as the price will be 50c additional hereafter.

Thaw Declared Sane

After deliberating only forty-eight minutes and casting only two ballots a jury of twelve men empanelled as an advisory body by Justice Peter Hendrick, declared that Harry Kendall Thaw was sane.

The last trial occupied a little more than three weeks time and the verdict of the jury meets with the approval of a majority of the people who are sick and tired of hearing about Thaw and his escapades.

Many times before in the long litigation that has followed the attempt to mete out "justice" to the slayer of Stanford White, the public has been led to believe that the Thaw case was ended. The magnitude of the Thaw family purse, however, has repeatedly proven sufficient inducement to ambitious lawyers to revive the case and bring on a new trial, impossible under ordinary conditions.

It does seem, however, that the last trial, if the verdict of the jury is concurred in by the trial judge, will serve to put an end to the Thaw trials.

Now if the "eccentric" Pittsburger is sane enough to refuse to take to the lecture platform or the vaudeville stage, the American people will not be sorry that he is released after years of battling for freedom against fearful odds.

For the sake of the gray haired and gentle mother who has stood by her wayward son through all his troubles and sorrows and who has through all the unpleasant notoriety maintained a dignified demeanor, people are sincerely glad Thaw is to gain his freedom.

The hope is that the awful cost of his criminal career will serve to make his future conduct such that he will be a comfort to that good old mother during the remainder of her days. If Thaw can live that kind of a life he will, in a measure at least, atone for much of his wrong doings.

Chicago's New Mayor

Judging from the published reports of his activities and his achievements, Chicago seems to have secured a real live mayor in the election last spring.

Mayor Thompson has not been in office very long but he has already shown the residents of the Windy City on the shores of Lake Michigan that he knows how and has the courage to deal with the vexatious questions which confront him. That he is a man of force is doubly attested by results which he has brought about and the short time consumed by him in accomplishing that which he determines upon.

The two most prominent accomplishments of Mayor Thompson's administration thus far are the settlement of the street car men's strike and the settlement of the carpenters' strike.

In the street car men's strike over sixty thousand employees quit the service of the traction companies in a body and traffic in Chicago was paralyzed.

Instead, however, of a long drawn out strike with rioting and bloodshed between the contending factions, usually attendant upon strikes, especially in Chicago, the whole trouble was brought to an end and a satisfactory end within forty-eight hours.

All because the mayor knew the men who were responsible for the trouble and who could end the trouble. He sent for those men and put them together in one room with instructions to settle their differences and with the warning that they would not be released until they had brought the strike to an end. The settlement was easily and quickly accomplished.

The same course was followed in bringing the warring contractors and carpenters to terms.

These two incidents are not only important in their direct results but their indirect importance should not be underestimated. Chicago labor agitators are facing an era which does not promise much remuneration and they will be less eager to bring on clashes between employers and employees in the future.

Under Mayor Thompson's administration they must not only have a just cause but they must be able to defend their course. He compels the accused and the accusers to meet face to face.

Long range fighting is not nearly so productive of an early termination as immediate contact.

More men with Mayor Thompson's ability and force, in official positions, would do much to relieve both capital and labor as well as the public from the inconveniences and the cost of strikes and lock outs.

It appears now that Chicago had found the right man for mayor.

THE TEMPLE.

There stands on a far peak that towers high
The temple of my soul, a secret shrine
That I have raised until it reaches sky,
Upon its altar-lighted flame divine.

Borne high above the world on hallowed wing
I built my temple with a magic might;
I filled it with the songs the angels
sing,
Then closed the portals on a mystic night.

My temple stands aloft, so fine, so pure,
That never may I hope to come again
To its high altar—tortured, must endure
A vision splendid I may not attain.

Here I must stand remote and raise my eyes
To that far shrine that never may be won.
My temple, that I built against the skies—
I see it shining splendid in the sun.

Watching Royalty Eat.

The Saxon court appears to have been the last to preserve the custom of dining in public, initiated at Versailles under the ancient regime. Lady Clarendon notes in her journal on Oct. 1, 1844, when she and her husband were traveling through Germany: "We were invited to dine with the king and queen of Saxony at their villa, near Dresden. The dinner was handsome, and what I liked best was to observe that the galleries commanding a view of the table had people quite of a common order in them. I was told that any one who chose was freely admitted."—London Express.

GUY THOMPSON KILLED AT GREENFIELD TODAY

B. & O. Freight Strikes Automobile at Second Street Crossing—Son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Thompson, of This City—Was Former Washington Resident.

Guy Thompson, aged 40, formerly of this city and a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Thompson of Broadway, was instantly killed about 3 o'clock this afternoon, when a B. & O. freight train struck his automobile at the Second street crossing in Greenfield. As Thompson was about to cross the railroad tracks, a switching train approached the intersection. Thompson apparently tried to run his car around the approaching train. When directly on the tracks his car turned over, pinning him underneath, and a moment later the heavy train passed over the automobile.

The unfortunate man was horribly mangled and identification was made by papers in his pockets. He was taken to the undertaking parlors of Coroner A. L. McWilliams, in Greenfield.

Thompson was a married man and the father of seven children. He formerly resided in Millwood and until recently on the Waterloo pike, near Johnson's Crossing.

Not long ago he purchased a farm near Fruitdale, where he has since resided.

Thompson was alone in the car, which was loaded with blackberries that he was bringing in to market.

Funeral announcement will be made later.

LARGE FARM BARN IS DESTROYED BY FLAMES

The large new barn, on the Robert Patton farm on the Good Hope pike, two miles below Good Hope, burned to the ground Tuesday night, the flames also consuming 40 tons of hay freshly put in.

Less than a year ago the barn on this farm, with all its contents, was burned and the new barn, a splendidly built modern structure, large and equipped with the latest improved conveniences, has been completed but a short time, the painting only finished this week.

Mr. Charles Patton, the son, was out in the side yard about half past eight o'clock, when he saw flames burst from the barn and the fire finding inflammable fuel in the dry hay, it was but a few moments till the entire building was crackling and roaring.

It required desperate efforts to save the house, but a short distance from the barn, and only a favorable wind made possible its safety.

The 40 tons of hay went up in smoke with the building, but fortunately there was no machinery or stock in the barn.

Spontaneous combustion is thought to have caused the fire.

Mr. Patton had only a small insurance on the barn and none on the hay, so his loss is a heavy one, especially following so soon after the loss of the other barn.

TRADE DOLLAR PAYS FOR HERALD

The Daily Herald has the trade dollar. The whereabouts of this adventurous coin has been a dark mystery for several days, and it had just about been given up as lost, when discovered at Stutson's Thursday afternoon. It was promptly spent for refreshments for the clerking staff at the new Hughey Confectionery.

Sherman Murray, who is connected with the Hughey store, lost no time in getting to the Daily Herald office, where he invested the leather bound currency in a subscription for Mrs. Maggie E. Divens of Good Hope.

SERVICE DIRECTOR IS LEVELING THE STREETS

Service Director Gerstner started men to work Friday on the sunken places in the brick streets in the central part of the city. There are many of these in the old streets, which are without concrete foundation, caused by sinking of the gravel base. The work will take some time.

WESLEY CHAPEL AND METHODISTS TODAY

The Methodists and Wesley Chapel ball teams of the Sunday school league are fighting it out at Athletic park this evening. The Methodists' victory would give them a surer hold on second place in the pennant race.

HAMILTON ASPHALT COMPANY AWARDED PAVING CONTRACT

Petition of Court Street Residents for Asphalt Largely Responsible for Decision—Bid Was $9,781.60.

The Andrews Asphalt Paving Company, of Hamilton, was awarded the contract for the paving of East Court street at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, following an hour's examination of bids by city officials. The bid was $9,781.60.

The bid of the Hamilton firm was the largest of three submitted. A petition from East Court street residents, asking for asphalt paving, influenced the action of the officials.

The work will begin about the first week of August. The course of the improvement is from the North street intersection to Columbus avenue. As in the construction of the brick streets, the asphalt paving will be underlaid by a concrete foundation three inches in thickness.

Heffner & Son of Celina, and S. T. Knight, of Columbus, brick contractors, also submitted bids. Knight's bid was the lowest, $9,695.75. The bid of Heffner & Son was $9,778.46.

The petition of the Court street residents was presented while the bids were being considered. It bore 21 of a total of 24 names of persons affected by the improvement. It was stated that the other three had not been seen by the petition bearers.

CAMPAIGN BEGINS TO ASTONISH EVERYONE

German Forces Under Hindenburg Moving Against Warsaw.

REDUCE FORTS AT PRZASNYSZ

New Offensive Believed by English Military Experts to Be General and to Extend From the Baltic Around the East Prussian Border to the Vistula—Fighting on the French Frontier and Elsewhere.

London, July 16.—The German forces under Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, who is reported to have said a few days ago that he would shortly astonish the world, have renewed their attack on the Polish capital from the north.

These forces have not only captured 2,500 prisoners south of Kolno, according to a report issued by Berlin, but have occupied Przasnysz, a fortified town fifty miles north of Warsaw, which was taken by Von Hindenburg in his great drive from East Prussia last winter, but was retaken by the Russians in their counter offensive.

This claim is partly confirmed by the Russian official report, which stated that the Russians, in the face of strong German forces, withdrew to their second line of intrenchments.

This new offensive of the Germans will probably be general and extend from the Baltic around the East Prussian border to the Vistula, west of Warsaw, for all the Russian troops in this section must be kept busy to prevent them from concentrating at the point where the Germans hope to break through.

In France the Argonne continues to be the scene of the hardest fighting, but of the operations here, as elsewhere in the west, the official accounts are as contradictory as usual. At any rate no great movement has been undertaken and no change has occurred in the line that could be recognized on any ordinary map.

Confirmation was received from General Sir Ian Hamilton of the success which for some days the allies were reported to have achieved on the Gallipoli peninsula. According to this report two lines of Turkish trenches were captured.

COTTON FREED; BRITONS HEED U. S. OPINION

London, July 16.—The government's decision not to declare cotton contraband was affirmed by the house of lords. The Marquis of Crewe, president of the council, speaking on this subject said that the strangle hold which the British navy has upon Germany's trade makes such a measure wholly unnecessary. "There is no use disguising the fact, either," he said, "that to make cotton contraband would cause no small amount of alarm and disturbance in the United States, especially in the cotton states. It would be unwise to disregard American opinion, even though we believed that Americans labored under misapprehensions."

of the William P. Frye, an American ship sunk by the Prinz Eitel Friedrich. In both cases the German government has expressed regret at the occurrence and offered to compensate American citizens for losses sustained, but the action of the German commanders has been declared justified under the circumstances. To admit this, officials here says, would establish a dangerous precedent.

Germany, in the Frye case, contends that it was a fair inference from the language of a Prussian-American treaty of 1828 that an American ship carrying contraband could be destroyed if there was no other way to stop the transportation of the contraband. The United States vigorously objects to this construction of the treaty, and in the case of the Nebraska probably will place on record its view that the attack, even though payment is assured and regrets expressed, nevertheless was an illegal act under international law and treaty relations between the United States and Germany.

Officials take the view that the case of the Nebraska proves conclusively that a merchantman must be visited in order to determine its nationality and the character of its cargo before being attacked.

Legal Points Raised In Statement on Nebraskan Affair.

MEANS A NEW NOTE TO BERLIN

Imperial Government, While Expressing Regret at the Occurrence and Offering Compensation, Holds the Action of the German Commanders Justified Under the Circumstances, a Claim Uncle Sam Will Not Admit.

Washington, July 16.—Germany admitted responsibility for torpedoing of the Hawaiian-American liner Nebraska off the Irish coast several weeks ago, in a memorandum sent Ambassador Gerard from the German foreign office, it was announced at the state department. Sincere regret is expressed and the German government offers to make compensation. The note assures the United States that the attack "was not meant for the American flag, but is to be considered an unfortunate incident."

Although officials were pleased by Germany's admission of liability and expression of regret for the attack by a German submarine on the Nebraska, they decided legal points raised by the incident would require dispatch of a note on the subject further to conserve American rights in the war zone.

Legal officers of the American government who examined the German memorandum pointed out that in many respects the case resembled that

FLOODS SWEEP THROUGH OHIO

Lima, O., July 16.—Following an eight-foot rise in the Ottawa river the stream rose within two feet of flood stage. A temporary foot bridge at Pine street was washed out. Other bridges are threatened.

Action of Pharmacists. Cedar Point, O., July 16.—The State Pharmaceutical association adopted a resolution declaring it had no connection with the proposed referendum on the Smith-Mallow agricultural law. The report of the committee on legislation, which was also adopted, scored W. R. Hower, state inspector of the drug bureau, for his alleged activities against the Platt bill. This bill was intended to return many powers now held by the agricultural commission to the state pharmacy board.

BEES OVERCOME MAN AND BEAST

Peekskill, N. Y., July 16.—Four persons suffered painful wounds and five valuable hounds were killed by a swarm of bees which set upon the hounds in the yard of Leslie Low here. When one of the hounds attacked the hive the queen bee lighted upon it. Swarms of other bees joined her in the attack and soon the five hounds were baying pitifully. Leslie Low, Jr., tried to drive the bees away with a blanket, but they turned upon him. His cries brought his father and mother and a neighbor who routed the bees with brooms, but not until they had all been stung several times and the five hounds killed.

SEEKS SYMPATHY OF UNITED STATES

Carranza to Make Formal Bid For Recognition.

Washington, July 16.—Officials familiar with Mexican affairs believe the president will take some action before long looking to the establishment of a provisional government south of the Rio Grande. At this time the Carranza faction stands higher in the esteem of the administration than any of the others, and it is believed here that the first chief is on the eve of making a formal bid for recognition by the United States.

Advices received here indicate that the Villa movement toward Mexico City has been checked by reason of the activity of Carranzistas in the north.

Carranza's eagerness to have the good will of the United States is strikingly indicated in a telegraphic statement from him received by Elizeo Arredondo, the first chief's Washington agent. Carranza expresses regret that his motives apparently have been misunderstood in Washington. "We are moving so closely along the lines of government," he wired, "marked by Thomas Jefferson, of whom we believe President Wilson to be a faithful disciple, that we feel that we are entitled to the hearty sympathy of the American government, in all that we are trying to do."

Carranza states that he is fighting the cause of the poor in Mexico against the rapacity of privilege and that in his work he ought to have the sympathy of the United States. He announces that Mexico City will be the seat of government.

MAY BRING JOHN BULL TO SENSES

Will Call Convention to Protest Against England's Course.

Washington, July 16.—Following representations made at the state department in behalf of the American packers whose trade with some of the neutral countries of Europe has practically vanished as a result of British practices during the war, it became known that a movement is on foot to assemble in a convention of protest, the meat, cotton and other interests affected adversely by British policies. The packers already have been approached by men identified with the cotton interests of the south in regard to the proposed gathering. It is understood the meat men are agreeable to the suggestion and that live stock interests may be brought in with them.

With the approach of the new cotton crop in the southern states, it is expected here that the grievance of the cotton growers against Great Britain will be brought to the front more than ever before. Like the meat packers, they have engaged special counsel and enlisted the support of men powerful in a political way.

The agitation of the project for an embargo on exportation of war material as a means of bringing England to terms has caused some apprehension to the British. Those most familiar with the situation feel confident that concessions by Great Britain are likely to come as soon as authorities in London realize the extent and depth of the feeling among large groups of American interests and appreciate the possible results of the political pressure they will be able to exert when congress meets.

GENERAL STRIKE BELIEVED LIKELY

Bridgeport, Conn., July 16.—All the Bridgeport factories may be tied up in a strike of far-reaching proportions. The trifling differences, wholly within the ranks of labor, which a few days ago caused the walkout of the structural iron workers and the millwrights employed by the Stewart Construction company on its work of building the new Remington arms factory, threatens to involve not only a score of factories holding subcontracts from the arms and ammunition company, but other manufacturers in which the same kinds of mechanics and artisans are employed. Settlement of the whole situation seems to rest with the machinists employed at the Remington factories, with whom the striking millwrights have allied themselves. They will hold a meeting tonight to vote on a sympathetic strike. If they decide to strike, it is predicted by the labor leaders that members of the eighteen allied metal trades throughout the city will join with them. It is said that the labor leaders plan to make Bridgeport an eight hour city.

MOTHER JONES TO SEE JOHN D.

Cleveland, July 16.—John D. Rockefeller returned to Cleveland after being away from his Cleveland estate since February, 1914. He said he was glad to be back in Cleveland and hoped circumstances would enable him to make a long stay. "Mother Jones," labor agitator, announced through Thomas Farrell, secretary of the Cleveland Federation of Labor, that she is coming here within the next ten days to make an appeal in behalf of John R. Lawson, mine workers' leader, convicted of murder, and to make an effort to call on Mr. Rockefeller.

School gardens at first blush seem like a harmless fad to keep school children out of mischief. Yet they should add greatly to the sum of useful knowledge and perhaps skill. At least they give an opportunity to a youngster so inclined to learn the secrets of the soil, of vegetation and production. The net results of school gardens in way of profit have only a local interest. If there should be loss instead of profit the balance sheet would be as satisfactory as that of any other branch of public education. The whole system is perhaps one of sowing blindly for an uncertain harvest, but now and then a farmer tries to use city bred muscle because country bred is not to be had. If he gets a graduate of the school garden he may at least expect a helper who knows that potatoes, onions and radishes grow at the foot of the stalk and not on top. He will also be broken in to weeding and will know that stones are not good fertilizers.

SPRINGFIELD UNHURT BY THURSDAY'S STORM

When the big storm swept over western Ohio Thursday afternoon the edge of which passed over Washington, reports were circulated on the streets that Springfield had suffered considerable damage, and persons in this city with relatives and friends in the Home City have been very anxious to learn the truth of the report.

The fact of the matter is that Springfield did not suffer from the downpour, nor Dayton, although Lima, Kenton and other cities report considerable flood damage, and a small loss of life.

A light rain was Washington's share of the storm.

PUBLIC OPINION RULES GERMANY

Count Von Bernstorff Informs Secretary Lansing That in Note to U. S. His Government Sought to Satisfy Public Opinion at Home and Still Remain Friendly With America—Thinks Diplomacy at an End—Says There Will Be No Repetition of Lusitania Incident.

By Associated Press.

Washington, July 16.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, told Secretary Lansing today he believed the German reply to the last American note on submarine warfare presented opportunity for settlement of the controversy by further diplomatic negotiations.

In the absence of President Wilson Secretary Lansing was unable to inform the Ambassador what course the United States would pursue in its next note, but he heard with much interest Count Bernstorff's explanation of the purposes of the German government to satisfy public opinion at home on the maintenance of submarine warfare, and at the same time to maintain friendly relations with the United States.

The ambassador personally is convinced there will be no repetition of the Lusitania disaster, and that German submarines now are exercising great precaution to avoid incidents which might inflame public opinion in the United States.

With that idea in mind, he urged that the United States take advantage of the intimation in Berlin's reply that Germany would be willing to have the entire question of freedom of the seas mediated with Great Britain through the American government.

New York, July 16.—Such a course American officials have indicated, might be more welcome if accompanied by some assurance that, during the pendency of the negotiations, American vessels and lives would be safe from attack and danger.

Count Bernstorff declined to discuss today's conference, beyond saying it was a very satisfactory interview, and he felt encouraged to believe the danger of a rupture in relations had been reduced.

He based his optimism on the view that the German government did not want a break, and would do all in its power to prevent one. He is confident that the United States holds a similar view.

The ambassador is strongly of the opinion that diplomacy will be able to settle the issue.

The interview was entirely informal, but the ambassador sent a long report of his visit, by wireless, to Berlin.

new civil service board of two members created by the Barnes-Moore bill, when that goes into effect in about a month. The salary is $4,000. Rev. Campbell has been financial officer of Ohio Northern University at Ada.

BOATS RESCUE 100 FAMILIES AT KENTON

By Associated Press.

Columbus, July 16.—Six city blocks were flooded here today, when the Olentangy river broke through the old city levy on the North Side.

The flooded section is not a residence district and has been used as city play grounds. Hundreds of small garden plots kept by the children were ruined.

Advices from Kenton say the flood is near the 1913 stage and that 100 families have been rescued in boats since 3 o'clock this morning. It is feared that lives may have been lost at Foraker, near Kenton.

A Toledo & Ohio Central freight train struck a washout near Kenton and the fireman, Jack Williams, may die as a result of being penned under the firebox.

The Scioto river is rising in Columbus, but no danger is anticipated.

Lima, Ohio, July 16.—Two lives were lost in today's flood here. Mrs. William Brokaw died from burns sustained when a gas explosion destroyed her inundated home and injured her four children. An unidentified negro was drowned while aiding the rescue work.

Lima, O., July 16.—The Ottawa river is racing through Lima today driving families to the higher portions of the city and tearing out bridges and viaducts.

Since midnight it has risen rapidly and at 7 a. m. was within 15 inches of the high water mark of 1913.

Police and firemen were on duty all night doing rescue work. Crops near here have been ruined. Over 200 houses are under water.

One woman is dead as a result of an explosion due to the high water.

The property loss in Lima is estimated at half a million dollars, and is twice that of the 1913 flood. The waters began to fall about 11 a. m.

SCIOTO RAGING

By Associated Press.

Kenton, O., July 16.—The Scioto river passed the 1913 flood stage here at noon. The Kenton water works is now submerged and the city is without fire protection.

The rainfall in the past 24 hours has been the heaviest in the history of the city. Refugees are coming into the city from the nearby villages of Alger, McGuffey and Foraker, and report the oats crop gone and many buildings wrecked and live stock killed. The farmers will suffer heavy losses, many losing everything.

THAW WINS FREEDOM AFTER NINE YEARS

Justice Hendricks Upholds Decision of Jury Which Declared Thaw Sane—State Will Appeal and Noted Character Is at Liberty Under $35,000 Bail.

By Associated Press.

New York, July 16. — Supreme Court Justice Hendrick upheld today the decision of the jury which declared Harry K. Thaw sane. Thaw was then given his freedom on $35,000 bail.

In announcing his agreement with the verdict of the jury, Justice Hendrick said: "I adopt the jury's verdict."

The next matter before the Court was the motion made yesterday by Thaw's chief counsel, to declare vacated the commitment under which Thaw was sent to the Matteawan asylum in 1908, after he had been acquitted on the grounds of insanity of the murder of Stanford White, June 25, 1906. Counsel for the state, however, immediately began an argument on appeal.

A surety company was prepared to give bond and Thaw was taken from the court house to the judge's chambers, so that details might be arranged. The justice fixed the bail at $35,000 to insure Thaw's presence at future proceedings.

A crowd of several hundred lined the sidewalks and overflowed into the streets around the court house, cheered Thaw and applauded wildly when he appeared on the court house steps.

In announcing his decision, Justice Hendrick took occasion to comment unfavorably upon the action of alienists, who had assisted the state in preparing the case and then appeared as expert witnesses in court. "I have reached a decision in this case," the justice said, "and it is based on my own mind, fortified by the action of the jury."

Thaw, sitting comfortably in his chair, his counsel on each side, showed his pleasure, and anticipated the court's decision with a broad smile. One of the state's lawyers gave notice of appeal.

Thaw's counsel moved that he be given his liberty under bond. This motion was vigorously opposed by the state's attorney saying he considered Thaw insane and a danger to the community. Thaw's bond assured his obedience to any mandate of the court until final disposition of the appeal.

After all arrangements for the bond had been made, Thaw, in an auto with his secretary and a detective, started downtown, followed by six cars containing reporters and photographers. All the way down Broadway to the office of his attorneys, persons on the sidewalks cheered and applauded Thaw, who appeared to be much pleased with the demonstration.

After a short stay at his attorneys' offices, Thaw took a ferry to Jersey City, where he was formally released from the custody of the sheriff. Thaw said he would motor to Philadelphia and go by rail from there to Pittsburgh.

CHILD MISSING; EAGLE BLAMED

Geneva, Switzerland, July 16.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—For all the progress made by man in his conquest of the air, especially since the beginning of the European war, the birds are still the masters of the uncharted heights. The Swiss and Austrian inhabitants on the frontier of the Voralberg have just had a striking example of this brought home to them.

A farm worker engaged in cutting hay on the slope of the Camp Alp, a mountain some 6000 feet high, near the Swiss-Austrian boundary line, brought his child to the field with him and placed the three and a half-year-old youngster under a bush while he set about his hay-making.

Some two hours later he returned to the place but could not find the child. He searched high and low, fearing he might have mistaken the bush in the shade of which he had left his offspring, but could find no trace of the infant. Beside himself with anxiety, he hurried to the nearest village and reported the circumstances to the police, who sent out a general alarm.

Several days later, some chamois hunters of the district, having learned of the loss of the child, reported that they had seen an eagle flying over them, carrying "something heavy." The conclusion was reached that the eagle's burden must have been the missing child.

Local Alpinists at once formed an expedition to search the mountain fastnesses for trace of the eagle's nest. But notwithstanding their earnest efforts nothing has been discovered to indicate where the giant bird has his aerial or whether or not the child is still alive.

CHAUTAUQUA OUTLOOK EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD

An increasing interest in the Washington C. H. Chautauqua has been manifested during the past week, following the visit of Mr. Warren C. Coleman, one of the advertising representatives of the Coit-Alber Chautauqua Company, to our city.

The advertising which had formerly been displayed about town was largely augmented by Mr. Coleman during his stay, and there is now no reason why the name Chautauqua and the date of the big educational event should not be firmly impressed on the minds of all our citizens.

Mr. Coleman informs us that the outlook for Chautauquas in the Coit-Alber circuit is exceptionally good this year, the great program provided, headed by Giuseppe Creatore's world renowned band, having enlisted the enthusiastic approval of all communities.

The Washington Chautauqua opens July 17th and continues for seven days, closing July 23rd. There will be a brand new program every afternoon and evening during the entire seven days. Creatore's band will be here on the fourth day of the Chautauqua, giving two concerts.

It would be a good idea to procure tickets from some member of the local committee today, as the price will be 50c additional hereafter.

Thaw Declared Sane

After deliberating only forty-eight minutes and casting only two ballots a jury of twelve men empanelled as an advisory body by Justice Peter Hendrick, declared that Harry Kendall Thaw was sane.

The last trial occupied a little more than three weeks time and the verdict of the jury meets with the approval of a majority of the people who are sick and tired of hearing about Thaw and his escapades.

Many times before in the long litigation that has followed the attempt to mete out "justice" to the slayer of Stanford White, the public has been led to believe that the Thaw case was ended. The magnitude of the Thaw family purse, however, has repeatedly proven sufficient inducement to ambitious lawyers to revive the case and bring on a new trial, impossible under ordinary conditions.

It does seem, however, that the last trial, if the verdict of the jury is concurred in by the trial judge, will serve to put an end to the Thaw trials.

Now if the "eccentric" Pittsburger is sane enough to refuse to take to the lecture platform or the vaudeville stage, the American people will not be sorry that he is released after years of battling for freedom against fearful odds.

For the sake of the gray haired and gentle mother who has stood by her wayward son through all his troubles and sorrows and who has through all the unpleasant notoriety maintained a dignified demeanor, people are sincerely glad Thaw is to gain his freedom.

The hope is that the awful cost of his criminal career will serve to make his future conduct such that he will be a comfort to that good old mother during the remainder of her days. If Thaw can live that kind of a life he will, in a measure at least, atone for much of his wrong doings.

Chicago's New Mayor

Judging from the published reports of his activities and his achievements, Chicago seems to have secured a real live mayor in the election last spring.

Mayor Thompson has not been in office very long but he has already shown the residents of the Windy City on the shores of Lake Michigan that he knows how and has the courage to deal with the vexatious questions which confront him. That he is a man of force is doubly attested by results which he has brought about and the short time consumed by him in accomplishing that which he determines upon.

The two most prominent accomplishments of Mayor Thompson's administration thus far are the settlement of the street car men's strike and the settlement of the carpenters' strike.

In the street car men's strike over sixty thousand employees quit the service of the traction companies in a body and traffic in Chicago was paralyzed.

Instead, however, of a long drawn out strike with rioting and bloodshed between the contending factions, usually attendant upon strikes, especially in Chicago, the whole trouble was brought to an end and a satisfactory end within forty-eight hours.

All because the mayor knew the men who were responsible for the trouble and who could end the trouble. He sent for those men and put them together in one room with instructions to settle their differences and with the warning that they would not be released until they had brought the strike to an end. The settlement was easily and quickly accomplished.

The same course was followed in bringing the warring contractors and carpenters to terms.

These two incidents are not only important in their direct results but their indirect importance should not be underestimated. Chicago labor agitators are facing an era which does not promise much remuneration and they will be less eager to bring on clashes between employers and employees in the future.

Under Mayor Thompson's administration they must not only have a just cause but they must be able to defend their course. He compels the accused and the accusers to meet face to face.

Long range fighting is not nearly so productive of an early termination as immediate contact.

More men with Mayor Thompson's ability and force, in official positions, would do much to relieve both capital and labor as well as the public from the inconveniences and the cost of strikes and lock outs.

It appears now that Chicago had found the right man for mayor.

Poetry For Today

THE TEMPLE.

There stands on a far peak that towers high
The temple of my soul, a secret shrine
That I have raised until it reaches sky.
Upon its altar-lighted flame divine.

Borne high above the world on haloed wing
I built my temple with a magic might;
I filled it with the songs the angels sing.
Then closed the portals on a mystic night
My temple stands aloft, so fine, so pure,
That never may I hope to come again
To its high altar—tortured, must endure
A vision splendid I may not attain.

Here I must stand remote and raise my eyes
To that far shrine that never may be won.
My temple, that I built against the skies—
I see it shining splendid in the sun.

They discussed the names of the few men who are to assist Mr. Edison in the upbuilding of the new work. Neither before nor after the conference would the secretary or Mr. Edison say a word about the composition of the new board.

Watching Royalty Eat.

The Saxon court appears to have been the last to preserve the custom of dining in public, initiated at Versailles under the ancient regime. Lady Clarendon notes in her journal on Oct. 1, 1844, when she and her husband were traveling through Germany: "We were invited to dine with the king and queen of Saxony at their villa, near Dresden. The dinner was handsome, and what I liked best was to observe that the galleries commanding a view of the table had people quite of a common order in them. I was told that any one who chose was freely admitted."—London Express.

If "medical science has conquered the fly" the swarms we meet with must be degenerate offspring who look upon surrender treaties as "scraps of paper" not to be taken seriously.

The new secretary of state shouldn't feel lonely when writing verse during off hours. While the gifted John Hay sat in the chair he wrote "some" pomes.

GUY THOMPSON KILLED AT GREENFIELD TODAY

B. & O. Freight Strikes Automobile at Second Street Crossing—Son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Thompson, of This City—Was Former Washington Resident.

Guy Thompson, aged 40, formerly of this city and a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Thompson of Broadway, was instantly killed about 3 o'clock this afternoon, when a B. & O. freight train struck his automobile at the Second street crossing in Greenfield.

As Thompson was about to cross the railroad tracks, a switching train approached the intersection. Thompson apparently tried to run his car around the approaching train. When directly on the tracks his car turned over, pinning him underneath, and a moment later the heavy train passed over the automobile.

The unfortunate man was horribly mangled and identification was made by papers in his pockets. He was taken to the undertaking parlors of Coroner A. L. McWilliams, in Greenfield.

Thompson was a married man and the father of seven children. He formerly resided in Millwood and until recently on the Waterloo pike, near Johnson's Crossing.

Not long ago he purchased a farm near Fruitdale, where he has since resided.

Thompson was alone in the car, which was loaded with blackberries that he was bringing in to market. Funeral announcement will be made later.

SERVICE DIRECTOR IS LEVELING THE STREETS

HAMILTON ASPHALT COMPANY AWARDED PAVING CONTRACT

Petition of Court Street Residents for Asphalt Largely Responsible for Decision—Bid Was $9,781.60.

The Andrews Asphalt Paving Company, of Hamilton, was awarded the contract for the paving of East Court street at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, following an hour's examination of bids by city officials. The bid was $9,781.60.

The bid of the Hamilton firm was the largest of three submitted. A petition from East Court street residents, asking for asphalt paving, influenced the action of the officials.

The work will begin about the first week of August. The course of the improvement is from the North street intersection to Columbus avenue. As in the construction of the brick streets, the asphalt paving will be underlaid by a concrete foundation three inches in thickness.

Heffner & Son of Celina, and S. T. Knight, of Columbus, brick contractors, also submitted bids. Knight's bid was the lowest, $9,695.75. The bid of Heffner & Son was $9,778.46.

The petition of the Court street residents was presented while the bids were being considered. It bore 21 of a total of 24 names of persons affected by the improvement. It was stated that the other three had not been seen by the petition bearers.

GERMAN CLAIMS ARE CHALLENGED

Legal Points Raised In Statement on Nebraskan Affair.

MEANS A NEW NOTE TO BERLIN

Imperial Government, While Expressing Regret at the Occurrence and Offering Compensation, Holds the Action of the German Commanders Justified Under the Circumstances, a Claim Uncle Sam Will Not Admit.

Washington, July 16.—Germany admitted responsibility for torpedoing of the Hawaiian-American liner Nebraska off the Irish coast several weeks ago, in a memorandum sent Ambassador Gerard from the German foreign office, it was announced at the state department. Sincere regret is expressed and the German government offers to make compensation. The note assures the United States that the attack "was not meant for the American flag, but is to be considered an unfortunate incident."

Although officials were pleased by Germany's admission of liability and expression of regret for the attack by a German submarine on the Nebraska, they decided legal points raised by the incident would require dispatch of a note on the subject further to conserve American rights in the war zone.

Legal officers of the American government who examined the German memorandum pointed out that in many respects the case resembled that of the William P. Frye, an American ship sunk by the Prinz Eitel Friedrich. In both cases the German government has expressed regret at the occurrence and offered to compensate American citizens for losses sustained, but the action of the German commanders has been declared justified under the circumstances. To admit this, officials here says, would establish a dangerous precedent.

Germany, in the Frye case, contends that it was a fair inference from the language of a Prussian-American treaty of 1828 that an American ship carrying contraband could be destroyed if there was no other way to stop the transportation of the contraband. The United States vigorously objects to this construction of the treaty, and in the case of the Nebraska probably will place on record its view that the attack, even though payment is assured and regrets expressed, nevertheless was an illegal act under international law and treaty relations between the United States and Germany.

Officials take the view that the case of the Nebraska proves conclusively that a merchantman must be visited in order to determine its nationality and the character of its cargo before being attacked.

CAMPAIGN BEGINS TO ASTONISH EVERYONE

German Forces Under Hindenburg Moving Against Warsaw.

REDUCE FORTS AT PRZASNYSZ

New Offensive Believed by English Military Experts to Be General and to Extend From the Baltic Around the East Prussian Border to the Vistula—Fighting on the French Frontier and Elsewhere.

London, July 16.—The German forces under Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, who is reported to have said a few days ago that he would shortly astonish the world, have renewed their attack on the Polish capital from the north.

These forces have not only captured 2,500 prisoners south of Kolno, according to a report issued by Berlin, but have occupied Przasnysz, a fortified town fifty miles north of Warsaw, which was taken by Von Hindenburg in his great drive from East Prussia last winter, but was retaken by the Russians in their counter offensive.

This claim is partly confirmed by the Russian official report, which stated that the Russians, in the face of strong German forces, withdrew to their second line of intrenchments.

This new offensive of the Germans will probably be general and extend from the Baltic around the East Prussian border to the Vistula, west of Warsaw, for all the Russian troops in this section must be kept busy to prevent them from concentrating at the point where the Germans hope to break through.

In France the Argonne continues to be the scene of the hardest fighting, but of the operations here, as elsewhere in the west, the official accounts are as contradictory as usual. At any rate no great movement has been undertaken and no change has occurred in the line that could be recognized on any ordinary map.

Confirmation was received from General Sir Ian Hamilton of the success which for some days the allies were reported to have achieved on the Gallipoli peninsula. According to this report two lines of Turkish trenches were captured.

COTTON FREED; BRITONS HEED U. S. OPINION

London, July 16.—The government's decision not to declare cotton contraband was affirmed by the house of lords. The Marquis of Crewe, president of the council, speaking on this subject said that the strangle hold which the British navy has upon Germany's trade makes such a measure wholly unnecessary. "There is no use disguising the fact, either," he said, "that to make cotton contraband would cause no small amount of alarm and disturbance in the United States, especially in the cotton states. It would be unwise to disregard American opinion, even though we believed that Americans labored under misapprehensions."

BEES OVERCOME MAN AND BEAST

Peekskill, N. Y., July 16.—Four persons suffered painful wounds and five valuable hounds were killed by a swarm of bees which set upon the hounds in the yard of Leslie Low here. When one of the hounds attacked the hive the queen bee lighted upon it. Swarms of other bees joined her in the attack and soon the five hounds were baying piteously. Leslie Low, Jr., tried to drive the bees away with a blanket, but they turned upon him. His cries brought his father and mother and a neighbor who routed the bees with brooms, but not until they had all been stung several times and the five hounds killed.

FLOODS SWEEP THROUGH OHIO

Lima, O., July 16.—Following an eight-foot rise in the Ottawa river the stream rose within two feet of flood stage. A temporary foot bridge at Pine street was washed out. Other bridges are threatened.

With 150 families driven from their homes and an area of two square miles flooded, this city faced conditions almost equal to those of 1913. Firemen and police with boats removed families from the inundated area. Several persons, confined to their beds through sickness, were rescued and sent to hospitals.

SEEKS SYMPATHY OF UNITED STATES

Carranza to Make Formal Bid For Recognition.

Washington, July 16.—Officials familiar with Mexican affairs believe the president will take some action before long looking to the establishment of a provisional government south of the Rio Grande. At this time the Carranza faction stands higher in the esteem of the administration than any of the others, and it is believed here that the first chief is on the eve of making a formal bid for recognition by the United States.

Advices received here indicate that the Villa movement toward Mexico City has been checked by reason of the activity of Carranzistas in the north.

Carranza's eagerness to have the good will of the United States is strikingly indicated in a telegraphic statement from him received by Elizeo Arredondo, the first chief's Washington agent. Carranza expresses regret that his motives apparently have been misunderstood in Washington. "We are moving so closely along the lines of government," he wired, "marked by Thomas Jefferson, of whom we believe President Wilson to be a faithful disciple, that we feel that we are entitled to the hearty sympathy of the American government, in all that we are trying to do."

Carranza states that he is fighting the cause of the poor in Mexico against the rapacity of privilege and that in his work he ought to have the sympathy of the United States. He announces that Mexico City will be the seat of government.

Will Call Convention to Protest Against England's Course.

Washington, July 16. — Following representations made at the state department in behalf of the American packers whose trade with some of the neutral countries of Europe has practically vanished as a result of British practices during the war, it became known that a movement is on foot to assemble in a convention of protest, the meat, cotton and other interests affected adversely by British policies. The packers already have been approached by men identified with the cotton interests of the south in regard to the proposed gathering. It is understood the meat men are agreeable to the suggestion and that live stock interests may be brought in with them.

With the approach of the new cotton season in the southern states, it is

GENERAL STRIKE BELIEVED LIKELY

Bridgeport, Conn., July 16.—All the Bridgeport factories may be tied up in a strike of far-reaching proportions. The trifling differences, wholly within the ranks of labor, which a few days ago caused the walkout of the structural iron workers and the millwrights employed by the Stewart Construction company on the site of building the new Remington arms factory, threatens to involve not only a score of factories holding subcontracts from the arms and ammunition industry, but other manufacturers in which the same kinds of mechanics and artisans are employed. Settlement of the whole situation seems to rest with the machinists employed at the Remington factories, with whom the striking millwrights have allied themselves. They will hold a meeting tonight to vote on a sympathetic strike. If they decide to strike, it is predicted by the labor leaders that members of the eighteen allied metal trades throughout the city will join with them. It is said that the labor leaders plan to make Bridgeport an eight hour city.

MOTHER JONES TO SEE JOHN D.

Cleveland, July 16.—John D. Rockefeller returned to Cleveland after being away from his Cleveland estate since February, 1914. He said he was glad to be back in Cleveland and hoped circumstances would enable him to make a long stay. "Mother Jones," labor agitator, announced through Thomas Farrell, secretary of the Cleveland Federation of Labor, that she is coming here within the next ten days to make an appeal in behalf of John R. Lawson, mine workers' leader, convicted of murder, and to make an effort to call on Mr. Rockefeller.

SCHOOL GARDENS AT FIRST BLUSH SEEM LIKE A HARMLESS FAD TO KEEP SCHOOL CHILDREN OUT OF MISCHIEF.

Yet they should add greatly to the sum of useful knowledge and perhaps skill. At least they give an opportunity to a youngster so inclined to learn the secrets of the soil, of vegetation and production. The net results of school gardens in way of profit have only a local interest. If there should be loss instead of profit the balance sheet would be as satisfactory as that of any other branch of public education. The whole system is perhaps one of sowing blindly for an uncertain harvest, but now and then a farmer tries to use city bred muscle because country bred is not to be had. If he gets a graduate of the school garden he may at least expect a helper who knows that potatoes, onions and radishes grow at the foot of the stalk and not on top. He will also be broken in to weeding and will know that stones are not good fertilizers.

SPRINGFIELD UNHURT BY THURSDAY'S STORM

When the big storm swept over western Ohio Thursday afternoon the edge of which passed over Washington, reports were circulated on the streets that Springfield had suffered considerable damage, and persons in this city with relatives and friends in the Home City have been very anxious to learn the truth of the report.

The fact of the matter is that Springfield did not suffer from the downpour, nor Dayton, although Lima, Kenton and other cities report considerable flood damage, and a small loss of life.

A light rain was Washington's share of the storm.

LUCY SNIDER AGAIN PUZZLES OFFICIALS

The Probate Court and the Welfare Association have their hands full with Lucy Snider, 12 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Snider of E. Since that time she has been in the custody of Mrs. Hunnell, who now refuses to keep her any longer. She cannot be taken to Delaware until entirely free from infection, which will be a week or more. And they don't want to send her back home. What's the answer?
